Introduction

'REVOJUTION' is a short film that explores the profound idea that love is revolution, and revolution is love.

Created with the utmost passion, this film revolves around these two central themes, carrying a poignant message on how both are required to fuel one another's souls. The final cut follows weeks of deep-diving into sub-themes and crafting dialogues intended to give true justice to this message.

What started as a semester's final submission for Media Production at Kathmandu University School of Arts (BMS) became something much deeper. With the creative freedom to explore, and a "massive" crew of two dedicated friends helping me out, we brought this vision to life.

The story narrates a transformation by splitting a single journey into two halves that start opposite one another—satisfying our desire to explore "pro-against" ideas.

This film is my expression against the current state of the world. It is a reflection of how ideas are formed, how they evolve, and how true change needs to be seen.

Created with a blend of human vision and AI assistance; while AI helped refine the technical polish, all core concepts, creative direction, and philosophical expressions are entirely my own.

Watch it from here:

"Whosoever loves much performs much, and can accomplish much, and what is done in love is done well"
Vincent Van Gogh

"The world is not a place for love. That's why love is so strong it exists where it shouldn't." H.G Wells

REVOLOUTION

"We are not fighting to become more like oppressors; we are fighting for reclaiming humanity"
Frantz Fanon

"Revolution is the courage to think for yourself in a world that wants to think for you"

Conclusion:

This is what I would call a 'cool' movie for the way I made it. Working on the central ideas that provides clarity enabling me to work on details. It provides that joy of directing and sharing ideas and putting a view out there. As mentioned before it's themed around sub-themes as Why Love?, Love is Stationary, Love is soft for love and why Revolution?, What is revolution?, Revolution isn't hard, Revolution is natural for revolution. That's pretty much it. Do check the youtube channel bts will be out soon..
