Background

I have been practicing writing everyday. And this is a poem I have really liked. I wrote this poem almost after I was giving up for the night. Time is something really special. And something really unexplainable. I am fascinated by it's property. And that's how I write this poem. Time : The One Unexplainable.

This poem is about the dual nature of time. It is also about how time is a thing that also contradict itself. Time is something we can't explain but live. This poem is about dilemma about time. I like it and I know that is all that matter. But I hope all of the readers will like this poem too.

Poem

Time : The One Unexplainable

*The one that one exit,
The one that only matters,*

The one big river,

The one invincible,

The one that adds value,

The one that steals,

The one that is disciplined,

The one changer,

The one greatest,

The one friend,

The one enemy,

And still the one nothing,

The one mirror,

The one sarcastic,

The one evil,

The one bitter,

The one still relative,

The one still valuable,

The one still wasted,

The one still lived,

The one still great,

The one multi-existent,

The one mystery,

The one gone,

The one occurring,

The one never arrived,

The one felt,

The one lost,

The one you have,

The one we have,

The one that is forgotten,

The one that is required,

The one that teaches,

The one that fights,

The one that is nothing,

The one that is nowhere,

The one investment,

The one mistake,

The one foe,

The one friend,

The one dull,

The one bright,

What are you actually, my dear time?
